

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF RICHMOND

RICHMOND ■ BALTIMORE ■ CHARLOTTE

GROW is one of the Richmond Fed's employee resource networks. This employee-led group sponsored our Women's History Month celebration by sharing stories of "Women @ The Fed." Learn a little about these employees by reading excerpts from those profiles here.

Women @ The Fed

Sharon

3 years of service

Human Resources
Relationship Manager

We are all leaders so it is vital to understand that the core
– the heart – of leadership is honor and gratitude.

Women @ The Fed

Karmen

2 years of service

Information Security
Project Manager

Professionally, I think others would describe me as a hard working individual who's always responsive and able to deliver. I don't speak a lot but tend to show my strength through my work and actions.

Women @ The Fed

Carla

25 years of service

Financial Reporting
Accountant

Women are hard workers, especially if you have a family and raise children.
Despite all the demands on your time, make sure you take time for you.
You matter – and to always put yourself last is a big disservice.

Women @ The Fed

Cary

30 years of service

Information Technology
Program Director

One of my proudest accomplishments is raising two daughters who value the importance of being independent, self-sufficient and finding passion in their careers.

Women @ The Fed

Shonda

9 years of service

Treasury & Payment
Services Business
Analyst

The greatest lesson I've learned is to keep yourself in a place where you can grow, whether it's personally or professionally. You don't have to compromise who you are while striving toward your goals.

Women @ The Fed

Sonya

3 years of service

Associate Regional
Economist

I always have a plan for the future, but the future always seems to take shape on its own. I would like to teach my daughter the importance of flexibility and compassion, in addition to hard work and perseverance.

Women @ The Fed

Bettie

27 years of service

Business Continuity
Coordinator

I started my career at the Bank as a programmer, and by taking advantage of the learning opportunities provided here, I have been able to expand my knowledge and skills. This has allowed me to contribute in different roles and business areas across the organization.

Women @ The Fed

Nichole

11 years of service

Office Automation
Support Specialist Lead

We can achieve anything we desire in life with the tools of determination, perseverance and tenacity.

Women @ The Fed

Julie

17 years of service

Corporate Accounting
Assistant Vice President

My proudest accomplishment was leading the Bank's United Way campaign. Initially, I was nervous; however, I worked with many great volunteers, and the Bank's campaign provided significant support to our community. It was a lot of fun and a very rewarding experience.